PRESS RELEASE

Vassiliko Cement Works at the heart of this year's CFA Research Challenge

Vassiliko Cement Works became the research hub of Financial studies students from six academic institutions in Cyprus participating in this year's CFA Research Challenge competition, being organized for a sixth consecutive year by the CFA Society Cyprus.

The competition's aim was the analysis by groups of 3-5 people, of a Cypriot company's share and business model in the same way as approached by professional financial analysts.

On November 26, 2019, Vassiliko Cement Works executives received undergraduate and post-graduate students in its facilities. Those students participated in the competition where they were presented with the company's profile and its operations. On February 21, the awarding ceremony was held at the exhibition center 'Philoxenia' where the winning team was announced. The award was granted by the General Manager of Vassiliko Cement Works, Mr. George Savva. During the event, the teams were called to present the results of their research before Chartered Financial Analysts (CFA charterholders) and other financial sector professionals.

At this year's local competition, financial studies students participated from the Cyprus International Institute of Management (CIIM), the European University, the Frederick University, the UCLAN Cyprus, the University of Cyprus and the University of Nicosia.

Vassiliko Cement Works continues supporting the academic community, as it constantly develops cooperation with the educational institutions of Cyprus and abroad. The Company's main purpose is to improve and upgrade young people's knowledge, through visits to its premises and through lectures it is invited to participate in various organizations.
